Fund Objective and Performance

The Newscap Global Multi-Asset Adventurous Fund operated as a higher risk portfolio which sought to provide capital growth where an investor is prepared to accept a greater level of risk for the potential of higher returns. Investment exposure typically included a mix of the following asset classes: cash, near cash, fixed income instruments, UK equities, international equities, property and commodities.

Important Information

The Newscap Global Multi-Asset Adventurous Fund was terminated on Friday 18 June 2021. This step has been taken in the best interests of shareholders in the Fund. This step was taken in light of the low assets under management of the Fund, the ongoing costs of running the Fund and the lack of any likely significant future investment into the Fund. Considering these factors, a review was undertaken of the continued viability of the Fund and have concluded that it is in the best interests of shareholders to terminate the Fund and redeem all shareholders. 90% of the Net Asset Value was paid on Wednesday 14 July 2021. Investors will be paid the remaining net amount due once all assets of the Fund have been sold and the Fund is in a position to distribute its final net cash balance. This Factsheet is for information purposes only, and summarises market and fund relevant data for the period the Fund was still in operation

Macro Commentary

In the UK, local equity markets seemed undeterred by an inflation read that came in above target 2.0%. Underlying this relative calmness, the Purchasing Managers' Index surged to new highs as restrictions continued to ease thereby releasing pent up demand. Indeed, UK manufacturing rose at its fastest rate ever since records began in 1975. Furthermore, both GDP and retail sales for April continued to push higher whilst unemployment in the three months to April fell to 4.7% from 4.8% in the three months to March. Taking all of this into account, the Monetary Policy Committee voted unanimously to keep rates on hold, whilst 8-1 voted against easing QE at this stage.

As we exited the month, the use of a traffic light system in the UK for foreign travel was left a little shaken by events in Europe, as Angela Merkel put forward proposals for a 14-day mandatory quarantine period for UK visitors to the EU (Malta and Portugal amongst the first to sign up to the proposal). Nonetheless, and moving away from the question of international travel and back to that of inflation, the European Central Bank continued with its dovish tones sticking to its present bond buying programme.

Moving to the US, CPI also pushed higher in May at 5% (consensus 4.6%) from 4.2% in April. Statements from US Treasury Secretary, Janet Yellen, that higher interest rates would be a 'plus' for the US initially sent shudders across equity markets. However, US non-farm payrolls came in slightly below expectations dampening concerns of impending adjustments to current monetary policy support measures. Finally, over in Emerging Markets, general inflation concerns were exacerbated by a 9% May read from China versus expectations of 8.5% and rallying from April's 6.8% YoY.

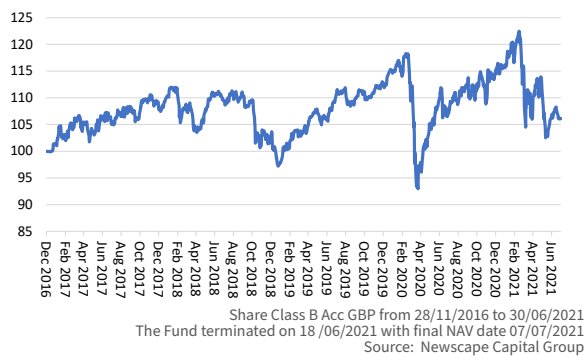

As we exit June the question of inflation – is it transitory or is it here to stay? – looks set to remain a major topic given the implications this could potentially have on accommodative monetary policy and general central bank and government support

Market and Fund Commentary

Against the above backdrop, global equity markets rose up 1.2% over the month, with US equities leading the way. Meanwhile, in fixed income markets, global treasuries were lower, but both investment grade and high yield credit booked gains. Separately, the commodities basket edged higher driven by a c.11% spike in crude partly offset by a c.7% fall in the price of gold.

During the course of the month up until termination, we continued selling down direct equity holdings replacing these with new holdings in equity funds. In the fixed income space, we maintained our focus on strategic bond funds with a bias towards lower volatility.
